

CELEBRATING REPUBLIC DAY THE HIP-HOP X REGGAE WAY

For the second time in a row, TDDP and Street Party launch 'Reggae Meets Hip-Hop' in BFR Sound System with the revolutionary live music of Delhi Sultanate and BegumX. With the headlining acts performed by Swadesi, The Dopeadelicz, MC Heam, Rohan Augustine and our in-house TDDP artists, our team managed to be the only ones in India to bring Reggae to Mumbai, right in the heart of Dharavi. When Jamaica met the African continent and India in a call for strength and unity, the event was bound to be a grand celebration of struggles. With over 300 people joining in our celebration and talents of all age groups performing with us, the event proved to be another feather in our cap. But the event isn't all that we brought, Delhi Sultanate and Begum X conducted an exclusive workshop for our in-house TDDP artists about all things Reggae a day before the event where they learnt about the history of Reggae and got acquainted with the BFR Sound System. Our graffiti batch also created an awe-inspiring graffiti of the BFR system for the event.

TDDP SHOWS GULLY GLAM AT EPIC FAM JAM

Bringing authentic gully energy to the first social media driven digital superstar fan festival of famous TikTok influencers and Instagram and Web series artists, our beatboxing and breaking batch made everyone groove to their performance. The event presented by Qyuki and PayTM Insider, saw artists like Mr Faisu and Team 07, Teen Tigada, Awez Darbar, Kings United, Gajendra Verma and more with whom our talents shared stage. Our team of 7 beatboxers set the scene soaring with electronic and melodic beats. The audience couldn't stop dancing and cheering as our breakdancers delivered their set on Divine's Chal Bombay and Gully Boy hit song Meri Gully Mein. Our budding stars gained great exposure at the fan festival and also stole the show with their talent.

AAMCHI TDDP SHINES AT THE BATTLE OF BEATBOXERS

Our brilliant beatboxers slayed the scene with their mouth orchestra at the first of its kind 12 hour beatboxing extravaganza - The Battle of Beatboxers. A battle between 96 beatboxers from across the nation, the event was judged by D-Cypher & BeatRAW from Bombay Lokal, Anup Gaikwad a.k.a Wah-Da-Fu, Bhavesh Sharma a.k.a B-Cube and TDDP's Beatboxing Instructor and Vocronica's Beatboxer Nagesh Reddy. From the 20 students who participated from TDDP, Sebastian won the battle and Sonu was the runner up. Prateek also made it to the Top 8. Proud as we are of our budding superstars, TDDP's instructor Noxious D also mesmerised the audience with his special English and Hindi rap showcase.

LENDING STREET CRED TO 'STREET DANCER' TEAM

The breaking batch of The After School of Hip-Hop proved their mettle while performing hip-hop as the guest performers for a special showcase performance for Varun Dhawan and Shraddha Kapoor starrer film Street Dancer 3D's special launch. Bringing the street in the Street Dancer, our kids surely won hearts and respect from the film crew and represented street in its authentic Hip-Hop style.

TEAM TDDP SLAYS IN ROLLING STONE'S HAQ SE HIP-HOP PODCAST

Claiming their space in the scene, our young artists shot their first-ever exclusive podcast with the Executive Editor of Rolling Stone India. Our team including Bboy Vikram, Sonu BBX, Sadhana BBX and MC Siddu were led by TDDP's boss-woman and the only woman in Hip-Hop to have dared to run The After School of Hip-Hop for five years now, Dolly Rateshwar. TDDP featured amongst big industry names like, Naezy, Prabh Deep, producer Sez, hip-hop collectives Swadesi, Dopeadelicz, Khasi Bloodz, MC Heam and more. With Dolly sharing the journey that brought them this far to students exploring the true spirit of Hip-Hop, our budding talents claimed their space in the scene, haq se! The cherry on top was the opening song of the series written and performed by TDDP's very own MC Siddu, John and Franky aka Younglord.
